

KEEPING MEDICINES SAFE

Reporting side effects can make medicines safer for everyone

Anyone can report a suspected side effect:

- Doctors, nurses, pharmacists...
- Patients or carers

When reporting, include as many details as you can:

- Your personal information
- The medicine's name
- Dose and duration of treatment

But also:

- If you stopped taking the medicine
- Other medicines you're taking
- Any other health conditions

Each report may help EU regulators identify risks and keep medicines safer for everyone.
