NordicPEDMED – serving children, investigators and industry

- For sick children, the networks can offer an upfront opportunity to receive new promising medicines in a safe and controlled way in the clinical trials
- Sponsored and academic research can benefit from a larger recruitment potential (5.4 million children) and coordinated expertise of a high-quality collaborative Nordic network
- Benefits of Nordic collaboration already demonstrated in disease-specific networks like the Nordic Society of Paediatric Haematology and Oncology (NOPHO) network, which has been successfully running collaborative multicentre paediatric clinical trials for decades
- Pharmaceutical industry organised in Nordic/North-European units and not country wise

Nordic Trial Alliance support for NordicPedMed

- 2014 – 1-year NTA funding made possible to initiate development of national paediatric clinical research networks also in Denmark, Iceland and Sweden
  - Feasibility plan with an outline on “Organizational Principles and rationale for NordicPedMed”
  - “Proposal for Establishment and Operation of a NORDICPEDMED”
- 2016 – Second stage funding
  - “Establishing governance and developing implementation plan for joint operations of the Nordic national paediatric clinical trial networks”
